CORNELL TEAM LEAVES FOR INTERCITY SERIES

Will Play in Last Game of Double-Header With Philadelphia This Afternoon for Amateur Championship of the East-Gossip and Notes.

League in Washington.

PRINTERS' LEAGUE

BALL NEXT WEEK

Corneil Company, winner of the Capital City League and the post-season scries, numbering some twenty-odd men, left at 9 o'clock this morning for Philadelphia to take part in the double-header with Philadelphia in the intercity series, which starts in Quakertown this afternoon.

Manager Cornell headed the party, which was composed of all the stars which have made the Cornell team famous. It is expected that Kerr will do the box work today, and Manager Cornell stated that it was his intention to let Fagette catch it his finger was in condition. Contrary to the usual expeclet Eagette catch it his finger was in condition. Contrary to the usual expectation, Manager Cornell will have enough men to fift in anywhere. He does not purpose working all his stars unless he is forced to, going on the supposition that as his team is reported stronger than the others it will not be necessary to rely upon his greatest strength.

The picture in yesterday's Philadelphia Inquirer shows that the St. Nicholas team which will represent New York in the series is a strong mature looking team. The New Yorkers won the pennant last year in the interborough League and won again this season with the same team. St. Ignatius, the team that will represent Philadelphia is a younger looking aggregation than the New York team or our own band which left this morning. As some one has so aptly said, 'You can't tell how far a freg will jump by looking at him,' the remark is distinctly apropos in looking over the two teams which will meet Washington.

This afternoon Philadelphia will play

New York, and then will take on the Cornell team, representing Washington.

From all reports there will be a "big noise" in Philadelphia today. There will be a parade, flag raising, band concert, and a general treat for all the teams. The Philadelphia Inquirer is Washington's representative, H. V. Shurtleif, accompanied by Charles King, went over to Philadelphia to be at a meeting at the inquirer office in the final meeting which arranged the last details of the games today. Mr. King represented Manager Cornell and will play in todays game. It is also rumored that Manager Cornell will select Mr. King to manage the team next year. That values should have held their own as well as they did today is a tes-timonial to the strong technical position of the market. Evidently forced liquidation is over for the time being. The influence of campaign oratory has been exhausted, and the market has been exhausted, and the market has been sold to a standstill. The financial insiders who are holding the great bulk of stocks evidently do not care to take on any more at this time, even though they will not disturb the poise of the market by selling unless something unexpected develops.

On similar lines the bears are satisfied with their progress—their bank accounts are "fat" as a result of much profit on the way down for some thirty to fifty points in the aggregate. They are short, heavily, but they see nothing in the situation to cause them alarm or uneasiness, and until they do they will not make any serious break for cover.

as at the close vesterday, when the hoon thour was reached.
Commission houses were practically empty and the attendance of room traders was very small. St. Paul enjoyed the distinction of scoring the largest advance of any of the leading stocks opening with a gain of % as a result chiefly of a favorable presentation of the annual report in the morning papers, which gave the showing for the stock at face value without analyzing or criticising the methods by which it had hem arrived at. Rumors were current of further advance in Union Pacific on the last day in which the dividend figures in the price, but some brokers thought it was significant that the selling of the convertible bonds showed as much disposition to correct an inequality in the price of the two issues by levying down as by levying up.

The monthly report of the unfilled tonnage on the books of the United States Steel Corporation did not come out until after the close of the session. It told the story of 3,577,128 tons unfilled on the books of the corporation August 31, as compared with 3,579,331 tons of July 20, a decrease of 423,898 tons.

There was no way of telling just how the Street will take the news, although it is probable that the lose of orders is no more serious than the Street had expected.

Bradstreets' reports were rather more encouraging than otherwise. In special-

He will join the examiner when that official roes before the board of directors.

In neither instance will he make any suggestions or supplement the work of his subordinate. His idea is first to determine the competency of the examiner to learn the condition of the bank, and, second, to find cut why a bank director does not hold himself quite as fully responsible for the condition of the bank of which he is an official as he does in his own business affairs.

The view of the fact that the excuses offered in practically every case of failure by the examiner were that he was unable to exactly determine the true condition of the bank," said Mr. Murray today, "that the officers and directors would not correct the conditions brought to their attention by him, or any one of another dozen reasons, the Comptroller proposes to go into each of the various districts for the purpose of ascertaining at first hand w an examiner is unable to discover and report the true condition of a bank.
